RICHARD VARNEY PLANE BASE DEDICATED LAST WEEK ON LAKE MARANACOOK

In special ceremonies Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 31, the Fish and Game Dept. plane base on Maranacook Lake was named in memory of Warden Pilot Richard E. Varney, who drowned last fall following a helicopter crash in the lake.

About 75 persons attended the ceremonies, at which time a sign was dedicated designating the facility as Richard E. Varney Plane Base. Among the speakers were Maine Fish and Game Commissioner Maynard F. Marsh; Winthrop Senator Jerrold Speers, sponsor of legislation to rename the Maranacook base; numerous colleagues and relatives of Mr. Varney; and members of the Legislature.

Mr. Varney, a veteran of 16 years with the Fish and Game Dept., drowned Sept. 27, 1972, after his helicopter crashed near the base. A native of Sumner, he had logged more than 10,000 hours in single and multi-engine aircraft, and was a qualified aircraft mechanic. A former resident of Bethel, he was a graduate of Gould Academy in 1950. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Varney, reside in Bethel.

TELSTAR ENDS UNDEFEATED SEASON WITH 18th WIN IN ROW

Telstar Regional High School made it 18 straight wins and preserved a perfect 9-0 season record winning its second Mountain Valley Conference title by pounding host Mexico 33-0 last Friday evening.

Pete Blake led the offense with touchdown runs of one and two yards while the defense came up with three Mexico fumbles and intercepted three Pinto passes.

The Rebels wasted no time in scoring. Dick Westleigh recovered a Mexico fumble on the opening kickoff at the Pinto 21. Three plays later Telstar scored.

Telstar added a second quarter touchdown on Blake's first run from the one. The Rebels tallied another second period score on a 71 yard drive on three plays. Paul Farrar got the last 42 yards on a off tackle burst cutting back across the field.

The Mountain Valley champs added two fourth-quarter touchdowns on a six play drive when the Rebels took advantage of a recovered fumble.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Tuesday's special election produced over 600 votes here in Bethel. We were surprised at the interest shown.

Next Monday night an attorney is to be present at the Selectmen's meeting to discuss with the board the various aspects concerning the road in the vicinity of Donald Holt's the town has been requested to maintain. There has been a question as to the town's responsibility or legal right to work on the road.

The sidewalk in front of the town office has been replaced as a result of laying drain and sewer lines from the new bank building. The town is to pay for one-half the asphalt used for surface.

The winter sand is stockpiled and the plows are mounted for winter. The next project will be to erect snow fence. We should be ready for winter then.

MAINE WOODLAND INDIANS TO BE TOPIC OF WORKSHOP

The Maine State Museum in conjunction with the Bethel Historical Society will offer a program from Nov. 12 to 16 for Bethel and Rumford grade school students on Maine Woodland Indians. The main part of the activity-oriented workshop will be held in the meeting hall of the Moses Mason House, with additional activities held at Telstar Regional High School.

The children will use artifacts and perform activities under the direction of the State Museum staff and their own teachers, to discover the ways in which the Indians of inland Maine satisfied their needs for food, clothing and shelter.

Area teachers will attend a special workshop on Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 3:30 p. m. at the Moses Mason meeting hall. A limited number of non-teachers will be welcome at the workshop. Please call Mrs. C. Newell (821-2089) if interested. In addition, observers are welcome during the workshop.

CHANGE IN METHOD OF REPORTING STUDENT PROGRESS IN K-6 THIS YEAR

The office of Basil E. Kinney, superintendent of schools, reported on Nov. 6, that Parent-Teacher Conferences will be used in M. S. A. D. #44 grades K-6 for reporting student progress to the home during the 1973-74 school year.

Mr. Kinney urges parents not to become concerned during the next two weeks when their children do not bring home a "RANK CARD." Children will carry from the school to the home within the next three (3) weeks a file folder containing information and instruction regarding the Parent-Teacher Conferences.

Shortly after having received the file folder arrangements will be made between the home and the school for an initial Parent-Teacher Conference.

During the school year other conferences may follow, mutually arranged by the home and the school. It is the goal of this departure from tradition, in K-6 M. S. A. D. #44, to enable parents in their conferences with teachers to gain an appreciation of their child in his many dimensions, of the teacher's many roles, and of the school system in its flexible, yet orderly educational program through knowing better how far the child has gone, how well he is doing and how much farther he can hope to go.

BETHEL VOTERS NEGATIVE ON PAM — FAVOR LOTTERY AND STATE PARKS BOND ISSUE

There were 639 ballots cast in Bethel Tuesday during the Special State Election. Local voters rejected the Power Authority of Maine by a 538 to 153 margin, while favoring a Lottery, 309 to 271; and the State Parks Bond Issue, 351 to 320.

On the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, Bethel voters were against regulation of municipal borrowing by the Legislature by a 344 to 286 margin; while favoring the amendment clarifying the use of the "pocket veto" by the governor, 414 to 211.

In voting for the vacant District 5 State Senate seat, Lowell Henley (Rep.) of Norway led Burton A. MacDonald (Dem.) of Peru, 335 to 321. Reportedly Henley was the winner in the District 5 contest with 5,239 votes, while MacDonald garnered 2,913.

Oxford County voters turned their back on PAM, 7,444 to 3,777, while favoring the Lottery, 6,868 to 4,119, and the State Park issue, 6,556 to 4,209. Oxford County voters favored both the proposed constitutional amendments; legislative control over municipal borrowing, 5,523 to 4,559; and the "pocket veto" clarification, 6,946 to 3,043.

Wednesday figures with 75% of the state's voting precincts reporting, indicated the statewide rejection of PAM, with approval of all other questions on the referendum ballot.

REGULAR S. A. D. 44 BOARD MEETING HELD AT ANDOVER MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 5

The board of directors of S. A. D. 44 held a regular meeting at the Andover Elementary School on Monday evening of this week.

The board voted to have the matter of the possible release of the West Bethel School property back to the town of Bethel on the agenda for the Nov. 19 session.

Given first reading approval by the board was a policy concerning "Public Reading." This policy is a statement of intent by the board to make the public aware of all policies, programs, problems, and planning of the school system, and to invite the advice and counsel of the district's citizens at all times.

Members of the board indicated their desire that all interim employment of non-certified personnel be presented for confirmation at the earliest board meeting possible.

The board was advised of a departure from the conventional "rank-card" system in the kindergarten-grade 6 levels. A system of a minimum of three conferences with parents at the student's school is to be continued on Page Eight

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Noyes Mountain; so many times I have written about it, climbed it, and looked upon it. Its base is here by my home but extends up and beyond. It was the "beyond" that Ruth, Foy and I visited one day this week. We left the car on the Hayes Hill road then walked a wood road, which stretched up steeply at first.

The air was sweet with ferns and balsam along the way. Their tresses of green were lighted by the open spaces. The sun was dim.

We planned to take this newer way as far as Buck's camp.

Things and places looked so different with so many trees cut away. Before we hardly realized, we came to the old Virginia fence so we knew that we were at Buck's. We looked the camp over, noted that the roof on each porch was falling in, admired the fireplace as always, reminded over the many times that we had been here over the years, then decided to move on to higher ground.

We crossed the springy, brown leaves under the trees and again took the forest road.

The old spring house still stood but looked rather feeble. Leaves floated on the spring water which knew not only the forests but visits from the deer who drink at dawn, and the night visit of the raccoon.

The road branched here and a short way to the left we came upon an old cellar. I seemed to remember that some one told me that the Ben Ring place was in this section. I was told later, that was correct, so maybe we did find it.

Taking the right turn now, we went a little way then climbed to the top of a cut over hill. This should be called Mullen Hill for the whole place is a mullen forest! I never saw so many together. This plant though common usually grows from three to five feet high. But here they grew as tall as eight feet with stout stalks, a help to us in our climb. The low rosettes of woolly leaves were everywhere. Mingling among the stalks and all around were the white haired asters, gold enrod, and milkweed; so many that they gave us the sneezes. In September this must have been a queen's garden: the whole slope carpeted in blue and yellow.

From the top of the hill we could look down on Mud Pond and far into North Norway. We lingered a while to soak up the silence.

The blue space of the sky and the forest green mountains stretched from south to north. Ruth named them by their familiar shapes in that order: Polk, Hedgehog, Peabody Ridge, Round Long, Uncle Joe.

Packing our way down again, we found the third bluffs of grass looking each other as we walked among them, speaking to us. We were tired to the point of starting to the last bluffs of Noyes Mountain.

All along the road now, we saw granite boulders and trees where about 50 years ago, trees had taken on foliage to the call of West Paris. We went on to find the main road.

500-year is a state mineral that has found use in the manufacture of fine porcelain and bearing powder.

mica has many uses from windows in the old-fashioned stoves, to modern electronic equipment and abrasives.

The mine was filled with BLACK water and as I threw a rock into it, it bubbled, rested and gurgled, and bubbled again. Mysterious and forbidding! It made me shiver to look at it . . . an ink pit! We found no treasures except the view around us and far into the valley beyond.

The houses up the Tower Road, Tibbs District, and Curtis Hill were visible.

The valley though small had charms and we responded to its beauty, as we surveyed the panorama of mountains and woodlands.

The road descended into gloomier vales now, for ranks of thick black clouds formed on the horizon. On sable wings they spread over the valley. We expected the skies to weep but they didn't until evening.

So we returned from this vastly changed mountain with its cut over sections. The Hayes family call it the mountain lot and one added, "I remember when it was planted to potatoes."

Nearing the road we heard ALL the chickadees of the woods gathered at a meeting in one spot for their singing lesson; one higher, two lower notes and bell clear, then a shower of musical sounds as they flew this way and that; often returning to the same branch from where their tiny forms appeared against the clouds.

Arriving home we realized this would probably be our last wood's adventure for the fall. Even the lapping of the water had a solemn tone as if preparing for the time when an icy grip would deprive it of freedom and hold it in its winter bondage.

Supper guests at the Hayes were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Blake, Russell and Eva Yates, Bethel, on Tuesday.

Dora Hayes visited at the home of Glenn Hayes on Thursday and was a supper guest there.

Western Flint, South Paris, Maynard Chase, and Rena Bacon, West Paris, were callers at Hols this week.

Roland and Elmer Hayes have finished work at Sebago.

Ann Holt called on friends in Yarmouth on Sunday.

The Hayes boys, Duane, Scott, West Paris, Glenn, Kevin, Gray, Ar-del, Auburn, were at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday where they joined Bill and Holly Hayes in hauling wood.

Most homes were visited Halloween evening by the town ghosts and goblins.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hakala and family attended the 25th wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Jensen at their home on Brett Hill, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mason, Bethel, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on Nov. 3 named Valerie Dawn.

Visitors at Mullen's this week were: Mrs. Sandra Coffin and Jim, West Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hathaway, Bryant Pond; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morse, North Norway; Brenda Mason and Ryan, Bethel.

While with his family they visited the GM plant where their son works. It was a very interesting tour. They see how the cars are put together from the very first part. After staying with their son's family until the 19th, their son Gerald from Holliston took them to Natick to their daughter Edna's (Mr. and Mrs. Robert Touchette) where they stayed overnight.

The next day their daughter's family and they went to Springfield to visit Mrs. May Porter's sister, Mrs. Ruth Brennan and Thomas L. Brennan.

They stayed there until the 22nd when they came back to Natick and stayed until Tuesday afternoon when their other daughter, Fay (Mrs. Terry Stinchfield) from Norfolk came over to get them to stay with her family until the 25th. HISTORICAL SOCIETY continued from Page One the workshop, Nov. 12-16, hours 9 to 3.

The Historical Society is most excited about the workshop and sees it as a fine way to begin the educational programs in its new facility, the Moses Mason House.

The week long workshop is made possible by a Title III project "Maine Street Museum." Similar school programs have been and will be given in Livermore Falls, Madawaska and Ellsworth.

The sponsors of the Workshop on Maine Woodland Indians have announced an adult program to be held at 7 p. m. on Tuesday, Nov. 13 at the Moses Mason meeting hall. The public is welcome. This program should be of particular interest to the parents of children taking part in the daytime workshop, as well as members of the Bethel Historical Society.

At the November meeting of the Bethel Historical Society Margaret Joy Tibbets and John Willard were unanimously elected president and vice president, respectively. After the business of the meeting was concluded a paper written some years ago by the late Bruce Noyes was read by Miss Tibbets, describing the final details of the Indian raid of 1701.

RUMFORD HOSPITAL OFFERS FREE DIABETES TESTS

Free tests for diabetes will be offered to the citizens of Bethel on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 12 and 13, at the Bethel Health Council during Diabetes Week, Nov. 11 to 17. This is in cooperation with the area wide screening program being conducted by Rumford Community Hospital in an effort to locate some 200 hidden diabetics in the area served by the hospital who have diabetes and don't know it.

Tests for diabetes will be distributed to all area adults and will also be available at the following walk up stations: Bethel IGA, A & P Store and Coker's Pharmacy.

Miss Frances Gaudier, president, Bethel Health Council, announces the following committee to assist in the program: Jane Mills, Bryant Pond; Arlene Lamark, Locke Mills; Sarah Head, West Bethel and Gladys and Bethel, Mary Rose and Frances Gaudier.

Each kit consists of a chemically treated paper strip known as a dry pack. It is used to reveal the presence of sugar in the urine. Because results appear only after treatment of the strip with chemical, each device kit includes a return envelope which contains complete instructions for its use. These envelopes must be returned to the post office. They can be returned to the mail, if received there, or they can be left at one of the walk up stations listed above. Processing will be done by personnel at the Rumford Community Hospital laboratory.

Dr. Jack Halliham, chairman of the Oxford County Diabetes Committee, and chairman of the hospital's program, said all persons whose test showed the presence of sugar in the urine will be notified for follow up by their physician.
